

STATE OF MAINE
ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY-FOURTH LEGISLATURE
FIRST REGULAR SESSION
JOURNAL OF THE SENATE

In Senate Chamber
Thursday
February 12, 2009

Senate called to order by President Elizabeth H. Mitchell of Kennebec County.

Prayer by Leslie Manning of Durham Friends Meeting.

MS. MANNING: Good morning, friends. We are meeting today on the anniversary, the 200th anniversary, of the birth of the President who suspended habeas corpus to preserve government of the people, by the people, and for the people, all of the people. Whose Secretary of War was raised an observant Quaker. Whose first inaugural address appealed to the better angles of our nature before he went on to prosecute the most brutal and appalling war our nation has ever engaged in, the war between brothers. Although deeply religious, he never professed to be a Christian, in part because he could never find a denomination who truly followed the teachings of Jesus. His life and his leadership teach us that we are all flawed human beings, doing the best we can in a less than perfect world, but that, with God's grace, our own humor and compassion, truth, justice, and peace will prevail. With malice towards none and charity to all, let us pray.

Make me an instrument of Your peace. Where there is hatred, let me bring love. Where there is despair, hope. I seek not to be understood as much as to understand, to be consoled as to offer consolation, and where there is darkness, to be a source of Your light. I am the clay, mold me. I am the vessel, fill me. I am the instrument, use me so that I may walk cheerfully in this, Your earth, recognizing and honoring that of You in everyone I meet. Amen.

Reading of the Journal of Tuesday, February 10, 2009.

JOINT RESOLUTION RECOGNIZING THE SIGNIFICANT CULTURAL CONTRIBUTIONS ACADIANS HAVE MADE TO OUR STATE AND NEW BRUNSWICK

WHEREAS, Acadia refers to the area of early French settlement in colonial times in what is now Maine and the Canadian Maritime Provinces, including our neighbor, New Brunswick, and this area retains its ancient and proud French heritage and language; and

WHEREAS, Maine Acadian culture can be found everywhere in the St. John Valley in Aroostook County: it can be seen in the predominance of French given names and place-names; in the architecture of houses, churches, potato houses and twin barns; in the cultivation of potatoes and buckwheat; and in local arts; and

WHEREAS, Maine Acadian can be tasted in traditional foods and heard in casual conversations and stage performances and read about in books; and

WHEREAS, the cultural identity of Maine Acadians is directly tied to retaining strong connections to family, religion and the land; and

WHEREAS, despite significant changes in social and economic life, Maine Acadian family names, religious affiliation and connection to the land remain potent markers of cultural identity; and

WHEREAS, the characteristic features of Maine Acadian cultural identity are rooted in the shared values, ideas and practices passed on from one generation to the next; and

WHEREAS, Maine Acadians have historically used the French language to transmit cultural knowledge, particularly oral traditions, and today French is learned as a first or second language throughout the State of Maine, including in other Franco-American communities; and

WHEREAS, clubs and organizations to promote Acadian and French culture and language in the State have sprung up in past years, including many at the local level and the Francophone Caucus at the Maine State House in Augusta; and

WHEREAS, throughout Maine history, Maine Acadians have held prominent positions in all of State Government, including the legislative and judicial branches and at all local levels of government; and

WHEREAS, the French language and other expressive traditions further contribute to the distinctiveness of Maine Acadian culture within the United States and the culture of Acadians in neighboring New Brunswick, and these ties bind the two nations closer together; now, therefore, be it

RESOLVED: That We, the members of the One Hundred and Twenty-fourth Legislature of the State of Maine, now assembled in the First Regular Session, on behalf of the people we represent, join together in recognizing the importance of the cultural and historical significance and contributions of Acadian residents of our State; and be it further Senator SCHNEIDER of Penobscot was granted unanimous consent to address the Senate off the Record.

Senator BARTLETT of Cumberland was granted unanimous consent to address the Senate off the Record.

Senator DAMON of Hancock was granted unanimous consent to address the Senate on the Record.

Senator DAMON: Thank you, Madame President. Ladies and gentlemen of the Senate, there has been a fair amount made of birthdays today in our opening prayer and in these remarks, but it was, I believe, ten score years ago that another great American had his birth. I refer to, of course, Charles Darwin, who went on to some renown. In addition to him, our opening prayer made mention of the fact of our 16th President who, too, was born on this day 200 years ago. I want to read into the record a few remarks that he made before his death so that perhaps future legislatures, or future Senators, and citizens can recognize that we recognized him. You've all heard this. In fact, you've probably had to memorize it at one time during your life. As I reread it, and read it again and again, it is so simple, so eloquent, yet so profound that I want it in the record. If I may proceed.

'Four score and seven years ago, our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation: conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal. Now we are engaged in a great civil war testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field as a final resting place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this. But, in a larger sense, we cannot dedicate, we cannot consecrate, we cannot hallow this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here have consecrated it far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note, nor long remember, what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us, that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion, that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain, that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom and that government of the people, by the people, for the people shall not perish from the earth.'

Thank you, Madame President.

Senator DIAMOND of Cumberland was granted unanimous consent to address the Senate off the Record.

Senator BARTLETT of Cumberland was granted unanimous consent to address the Senate off the Record.

Senator RAYE of Washington was granted unanimous consent to address the Senate on the Record.

Senator RAYE: Thank you, Madame President. I want to thank the good Senator from Hancock, Senator Damon, for reminding us of the eloquent words of President Lincoln and I asks that when the Senate adjourns today that we do so in tribute to the 200th anniversary of President Lincoln's birth.

On motion by Senator RAYE of Washington, ADJOURNED, until Tuesday, February 17, 2009, at 10:00 in the morning, in memory of and lasting tribute to President Abraham Lincoln.
